Abstract

Credentials may by issued to virtual tokens of a computing device based upon a credential issued to physical token of the computing device thus tying the virtual token credential to the physical token credential.